

CV Claus Sørensen

I originally trained as a reflexologist in 1997 and then moved on to study Acupuncture and Chinese Medicine at the College of Integrated Chinese Medicine, UK, headed by John and Angela Hicks and Peter Mole, from which I graduated in 2002. Two years later I got the opportunity to attend a degree top up course earning me a university degree; the first dane to achieve a degree in Acupuncture and Chinese Medicine :-). My dissertation looked into overgrowth of candida yeast infection and how it could be diagnosed with Tongue Diagnosis and Shen-Hammer Pulse Diagnosis/Contemporary Chinese Pulse Diagnosis.

Since 2004 I have used what in Europe is known as the Shen-Hammer Pulse System as my main diagnostic tool. In 2011 I attended an advanced intensive seminar with Dr. Leon Hammer, and in 2012 I was the first Scandinavian to become fully certified as an CCPD instructor.

I'm particularly interested in Dr Shen's System model and the correlations to Liu Jing, a topic I have taught extensively in Europe including the Rothenburg Congress.

I have integrated the pulse system into the acupuncture training program at Nordic Acupuncture College, Denmark.

I'm also a trained chinese herbalist. In 2016 I graduated from a 2,5-year programme from Southern College of Chinese Medicine. Lund, Sweden, run by Louis Womack. I enrolled in the GMP2018 which has impacted my clinical work deeply. I graduated and got certified by Sharon Weizenbaum, and now I have also taken on the roll as TA (teaching assistant) in upcoming GMP's.

More info on www.dragonrises.dk and <https://www.whitepinecommunity.org/user/410/information>

CV Nigel Ching

Nigel Ching has 35 years of experience as an acupuncturist and Chinese herbalist. Nigel took his herbal training at Northern College of Acupuncture in the UK with Charles Buck as the main teacher. Nigel also holds a Masters degree in Chinese medicine from the University of Middlesex.

Nigel has a broad experience as a teacher and has taught in the whole of Scandinavia and several European countries, including the biggest congresses in Europe.

Nigel has written the following textbooks in Danish: Akupunktur og Sygdomsbehandling; Kunsten at Diagnosticere; Akupunktorens Grundprincipper; Pædiatrisk Akupunktur; Behandling af Kræftpatienter med Akupunktur. Kunsten at Diagnosticere has been translated and published by Singing Dragon with the English title 'The Art and Practice of Diagnosis in Chinese Medicine'.

CV Simon Becker

Simon Becker holds a diploma in Traditional Chinese Medicine from the Florida Institute of TCM and a MSc from the University of Westminster, UK. He is the author of various articles and books on Chinese medicine. He served as the president for the Swiss Professional Association of TCM from 2003 until 2009. Simon is the director of the Chiway Academy and deputy head of the Chinese Medicine Policlinic at the Hospital in Horgen. He specializes in the treatment of children and supportive treatment of cancer patients

CV Rick Scott Sørensen

Rick Sørensen Scott, MSc, DBM, PhD Candidate

Registered Acupuncturist | Registered Natural Medicine Practitioner (Naturopath) |
Registered Massage Therapist

Rick Sørensen Scott brings 18 years of higher education and over 20 years of clinical experience, specialising in pain conditions and integrative medicine. He holds a Master of Science in Advanced Oriental Medicine (Research & Practice), awarded by the University College of Osteopathy in collaboration with the Northern College of Acupuncture in the United Kingdom. He has a graduate education in practical acupuncture from New York. Rick has completed a Bachelor's and Master's degree in Natural Medicine from the USA, alongside doctoral-level education in botanical/herbal medicine from Spain. He also has an undergraduate education in psychology focusing on pain and perception and undergraduate and graduate education in manual medicine, including chiropractic, osteopathic, and advanced orthopaedic medical massage therapy.

Rick is preparing to begin his PhD in Biomedicine at the University of West London. His research will focus on refining and clinically testing his electroacupuncture protocol for chronic pain, particularly sciatica, which he developed over the past 15 years. This work builds on his extensive experience managing complex pain conditions and his award-winning academic research. As a visiting lecturer, he will teach acupuncture to UWL's MSc in Integrative Medicine students and has taught in the USA, Denmark, and internationally.

Rick integrates evidence-based approaches with traditional and integrative medicine as a Registered Alternative Practitioner (RAB) in Denmark in acupuncture, naturopathy, and massage therapy. His teaching emphasises bridging traditional wisdom with modern science, providing students with practical, research-backed tools for clinical application.

CV Joachim Hauser

(f.1963) MSc. in 'Advanced Oriental Medicine'.

Joachim has more than 35 years of experience as Acupuncturist. He has studied Acupuncture since 1986 and practiced since 1990, after graduating from the first three-year acupuncture school in Denmark.

Joachim has continued his studies in acupuncture, Chinese Herbal Medicine, Taijiquan & Qigong and Body-Psychotherapy on a high level.

This genuine combination of professional skills has accomplished Joachim to integrate a profound knowledge of Chinese Medicine with Western Body-Psychotherapy, which reveals itself both in clinical practice and when teaching.

In 2001 Joachim founded the 'Acupuncture Academy', an education and professional network for skilled acupuncturists. Joachim was one of the central teachers of the Acupuncture Academy from 2001 to 2014.

Over the years Joachim has been teaching on a row of Denmark's leading acupuncture schools, as well as smaller training groups of hands-on clinical practice in private clinics around Denmark.

From 2014 to 2019 Joachim did a Masters degree (MSc) specializing in Acupuncture and bodily manifestations of emotions under the title 'The Topography of Jing-Shen and Pathogenic Emotions'. The MSc was under the wings of Northern College of Acupuncture, York, and validated by Middlesex University.

Joachim works in 'AkupunkturHuset i Århus' – over the years with many good colleagues.

